

About Shazia Mustafa

Shazia is the founder and Director of Third Door, the UK's first family-friendly coworking space with an onsite Ofsted registered Nursery.

Third Door was specifically created in 2010 to meet the changing needs of working parents, and is built around the passionate belief that it is possible to excel in your work and still spend quality time with your children.

With a background in consumer research for the BBC and Nokia, Shazia has developed her business model over the 8 years Third Door has been in business to remain responsive to changing needs. This has included getting her own EYTS childcare qualification in order to understand the needs of her childcare staff.

Her model is seen to be the first hybrid business of its kind and a global leader in its field.

Shazia is a member of the Women's Equality Party, and Movement Builder for their Equal Parenting and Caregiving policy.

Most importantly, Shazia is mum to three children who have been the inspiration for Third Door. She is currently working on the next stage of Third Door's growth, including opening in new locations.
