

About Third Door

Set up in 2008, Third Door is a family-friendly coworking space with an on-site Ofsted registered Nursery.

Third Door was built on the passionate belief that it is possible to excel in your career and still spend quality time with your children. We understand the difficulties faced by today's working parents when looking for flexible childcare – our founder, Shazia, faced the same difficulties when returning to work after her first child.

Back in 2008, Shazia was trying to work around looking after her five-month old daughter and finding it extremely difficult. She wanted a place to work in peace, where her baby would be cared for nearby. Nowhere offered a solution, so Shazia and her husband Yusuf decided to create one themselves. And so Third Door was born!

We believe you shouldn't have to choose between building your career and spending quality time with your family.

Our ethos is very important to us, and we aim to create an environment where children, parents and staff are all able to embody our values together:

Respect

It is through mutual respect that we have created the wonderful atmosphere we have at Third Door.

Curiosity

Our nursery team are curious childcare practitioners, who have each worked on qualifications in their spare time to help improve their practice and careers. This in turn helps the children develop a natural curiosity.

Confidence

We find that confidence and peace of mind go hand in hand – for children and for parents.
